

Captain Kirk's adventures "Special Edition"

Fearing the Professor's wrath, for having mixed the remains of Kirk struck by lightning with those of a shark, Edgard fled to the worlds of Carcassonne.

Meanwhile, the Professor, who remained at the base, is desperately looking for a package that contains a high-powered bomb for the fierce dinosaurs.

Our two heroes, come out of the black pig's inn.

-After this good meal, let's go and meet this dear Professor.

-OK Bat! The tuna salad was great!

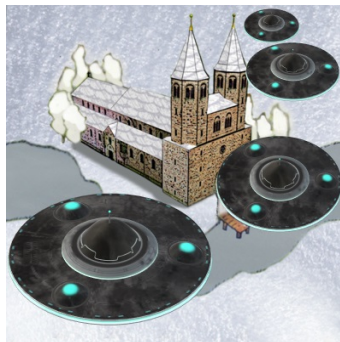

In the worlds of Carcassonne, a strange phenomenon occurs.

Thousands of spaceships are blackening the sky.

They fly over the flooded worlds of Sailing the Sea and the snow-covered lands of Winter Editions.

No longer seeing the horizon, the Gold Rush Indians are afraid that the buffalo will never come back again.

The arc walls of covenant resonate with the noise of the turbines, the inhabitants no longer go out into the streets.

In the remote worlds of Carcassonne, too, a nightmare vision spreads fear among the populations.

In a few words.

"The worlds of Carcassonne are afraid"

What the hell is going on?

